Notes

English manor house built in 1987 has sweeping view of a nature preserve framed by soft rolling hills. Architectural details include arched doorways, magnificent millwork, raised paneling, and hardwood floors throughout.

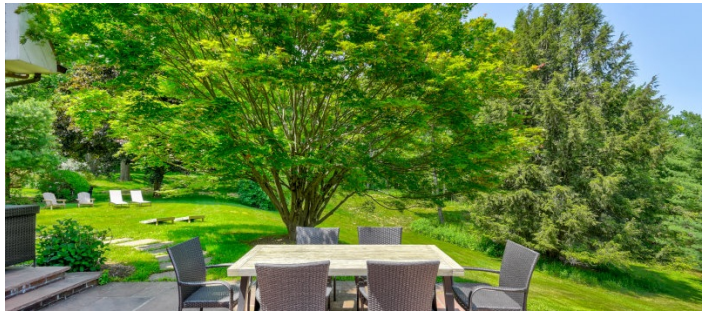

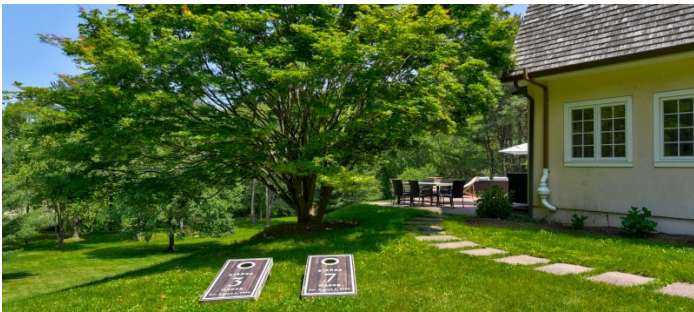

The ground floor is classically organized with rooms flaked off arched colonnade. The entrance of the home splits the home in half by a double height, sunlight stairwell and window wall. Special features include a sunken living room, double height primary suite with adjoining terrace overlooking the rear property. There are 3 working wood fireplaces with terraces just off each of those rooms.

Restrictions:

Guest cottage requires separate clearance.

Requests to paint or nail into walls requires advance clearance from owner; walls to be returned to original condition upon project completion.
